NOTE OF PATRIOTISM PREDOMINATED AT WILSON'S INAUGURAL

LINE OF SOLDIERS GUARD THE AVENUE

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—President Wilson and Vice President Marshall were inaugurated for their second term today with a great patriotic demonstration of Americanism.

The solemn dignity of the ceremonies of inaugurating the vice-president in the senate chamber and the simple but impressive ceremony in the open air on the plaza before the capitol when the president delivered his inaugural address, were accentuated by the note of patriotic fervor which predominated through all the proceedings of the day.

First Democratic president to succeed himself since Jackson and tenth to be re-elected, President Wilson entered his second term of office with a new consecration to the service of his country.

It was the president's wish that his inauguration should be simple one, and all through the fixed program which covered more than five hours while there was the pomp, ceremony and spectacular display which inevitably attaches to the inauguration of a president, the studied effort was to keep the ceremonies in accord with the best traditions of America—ceremonies which in the main were planned by George Washington more than a century ago.

The event was simplified because there was no dual ceremony to attend the departure of an outgoing president and further simplified because it did not fall in with the rush and confusion of the dying hours of congress.

The ceremony began with the president's departure from the White House for the capitol. That was fixed by program for 11 o'clock.

At the capitol the crowd already was packed about the inaugural stand. The broad plaza with standing room for thousands filled rapidly and out over the park spaces and avenues which converge there another crowd had to content itself with looking on the ceremonies from a distance, quite out of reach of President Wilson's voice.

When the official party arrived at the capitol, the president, with Mrs. Wilson, went to the president's room near the senate chamber and the vice-president and Mrs. Marshall went to the vice-president's room to await the beginning of the ceremonies in the senate chamber.

Senate Assembled.
 While the senate was assembling for its special session, the first of the Sixty-fifth congress, the diplomatic corps was arriving and assembling in the marble room, to be escorted into the chamber. Gorged in the colors and gold of their court uniforms, the corps entered headed by its dean the ambassador of France, Jules J. Jusser and one figure which had been familiar at other inaugural ceremonies was missing. It was that of the German Ambassador Count Johann H. von Bernstorff, with whose country the United States has served diplomatic relations. The other diplomats entered by precedence in order of the time they have been accredited to this country, the ambassadors coming first and the ministers last. They were shown to seats reserved for them near the center aisle and immediately be-

WELL KNOWN NEGRO ACCIDENTALLY SHOT BY SISTER-IN-LAW

ANNUAL BALL OF THE DAYTONA HOTEL MEN TUESDAY AT CASINO

William Green, a well known negro of this city who has been in the employ of the Daytona Public Service company for many years, was shot Sunday morning about 1:00 and died shortly after 7:00 on the same morning at the McLeod hospital of the Daytona Industrial school.

It is alleged that Green was shot probably by accident by a gun in the hands of his sister-in-law, Narcissus Butler. This negro and her brother were arrested Sunday by Chief of Police T. O. Milton and turned over to Deputy Sheriff M. L. Crews to await the final decision of the coroner's jury which will be given this afternoon at 5:00. It is believed that their decision will be that the shooting occurred by accident.

Green was head waiter for the Daytona Public Service company at the time of his death and has been known during the time he has lived here as an industrious and respectable negro, being well liked by those who know him or had dealings with him.

Governor Hanly is a speaker with a fine command of language and his address will commence tonight at 7:00 o'clock.

a suburb of Detroit, is prominent in civic circles of that city.

Frank McNeal of Kane, Pa., a guest at the Prince George hotel, left Saturday for Miami, being called there on account of the illness of a sister.

Mrs. Charles M. Dow of Jamestown, N. Y., who has been spending the past week with Col. and Mrs. Cameron in one of the Clarendon cottages will leave to day for a trip with friends to Palm Beach, Miami and Florence Villa, returning to Daytona later to be the guest of Mrs. Maude S. Kinmonth, at her pretty winter home at the corner of Ridgewood avenue and South streets.

Chester Shep joined his mother in this city Sunday evening, coming to Daytona from New York, and Claude and Allen are expected today or tomorrow from Minneapolis, Minn.

Frank R. Fisher, traveling passenger agent for the Illinois Central railroad, who will be stationed here for the remainder of the season in the interest of travel north on the Seminole Limited, was a pleasant caller at the News office this morning. He will be located at the Deepland hotel while here. Mr. Fisher was accompanied by H. C. Cantwell, the well known Illinois Central T. P. A., formerly in charge of this territory. Mr. Cantwell will again this season look after the business from Palm Beach and Miami, leaving Daytona for those places about the middle of the week.

WHOLE EMPIRE TO TAKE PART IN WAR COUNCIL

Representatives of British Dominions to Sit With Lloyd George's Advisers.

WILL SHAPE FUTURE POLICY

Everything Affecting Conduct of War and Negotiations for Peace Will Be Considered by Colonial Premiers Sitting With Inner War Board.

London.—Vast changes for King George V's far-flung dominions, indeed for the whole world, are bound up in the great congress of the British empire to be held here.

Representatives of the British empire's leading elements have met before, but more as a matter of ceremony and form. This time they come to London to do things. They will consider and decide all important policies now at issue having to do both with present problems and with those which are expected to come up at the close of the conflict.

In this unprecedented meeting, as in the several military and economic councils of the entente allies and even in the similar gatherings of the Teutonic nations and their allies, experience is being gained which will do much to further the world-wide co-operation now the goal of most constructive thinkers.

Premier David Lloyd-George has promised that the representatives of the dominions shall sit with the inner British war board of five members—not in the sense that a visitor is invited to sit beside a judge on the bench, but as voting equals.

The Welsh leader's far-seeing eye has discerned that in this way lies safety for Britain—that only by making the world-girdling empire an organization of peers can real co-operation and the full development of British strength be attained.

Will Sit in Council.

Here are the men who will sit in this imposing council:

For Great Britain: David Lloyd George, premier; Austin Chamberlain, secretary of state for India; Walter Hume Long, secretary of state for the colonies.

For South Africa: Gen. Jan Christian Smuts (serving in place of Premier Louis Botha).

For Canada: Premier Sir Robert Borden.

For New Zealand: Premier William Ferguson Massey.

For Australia: Premier William Morris Hughes.

For India: Two members of the privy council, one a Hindu and one a Mohammedan.

What the council will consider was very clearly stated by Premier Lloyd George in a statement to the Australian Universal Cable service, a news syndicate in which the leading Antipodean newspapers are members. He said:

"This council will deal with all general questions affecting the war. The prime ministers or their representatives will be members of the war council, and we propose to arrange that all matters of first importance shall be considered at its meetings."

"Nothing affecting the dominions, the conduct of the war or the negotiations for peace will be excluded from the scope of its authority. There will, of course, be domestic questions which each part of the empire must settle for itself. Such domestic matters will be our only reservation. But we propose that everything else shall be, so to speak, on the table."

Entitled to a Say.

You do not suppose that our over-nations can raise and place in the field armies containing a predominant portion of their best manhood and not want to have a say, a real say, in determining the use to which they are to be put? That seems to us an impossible and undemocratic proposition.

"Up to the present we have shoudered practically alone responsibility for the policy of the war. We now wish to know that in our measures for prosecuting the war to a finish, in our negotiations for peace and in the problems arising from the war and following its close we shall be carrying out a policy agreed to by the representatives of the entire empire, sitting together in plenary council.

"Things can never be the same after the war as before it. Five democracies, all parts of one empire, cannot shed their blood and spend their treasure with a heroism and disregard of cost beyond all praise and in a common cause without establishing a unity such as never existed until now."

Although the British empire now presents a united front to the Teutons such a spirit of union has not always marked its history.

War has united the empire; first, the Boer struggle, and, second, the present titanic conflict.

Were Object Lessons.

The two wars were object lessons for the provincial Londoners. In this war more than a million fine soldiers have already left their homes to fight for their king in France, in East Africa, in Mesopotamia, in Egypt and on the Gallipoli peninsula. On the latter spot they died by the ten thousand in a hopeless attempt to take impregnable positions.

The caliber of the colonial leaders who will come here is not inferior to that of the British leaders with whom they will confer. Perhaps the strongest and most interesting personality among them is Premier Hughes of Australia.

When he visited England for the first time a year ago he impressed Englishmen deeply.

Hughes weighs less than 100 pounds, has chronic dyspepsia, and shows about ten times as much energy as an ordinary 200-pound man in full health.

He started life as an itinerant schoolmaster in Australia, carrying a pack about the country and teaching frontiersmen's children. Then he opened up a little general store near the wharves in Sydney, became acquainted with the dock laborers and headed the trades union movement. He rose rapidly to be a Labor member of the assembly of New South Wales, then a member of the Australian commonwealth parliament, then minister of external affairs, and finally premier in the first Labor cabinet the nation had ever known.

Some of the Others.

Premier Massey of New Zealand is an Irishman born, who went to the Antipodes when six years old, and was engaged in farming before turning to statesmanship.

General Smuts was one of the best Boer leaders in the war against Great Britain 17 years ago. Today he is one of King George's most loyal and energetic supporters.

For Australia: Premier William Morris Hughes.

For India: Two members of the privy council, one a Hindu and one a Mohammedan.

What the council will consider was very clearly stated by Premier Lloyd George in a statement to the Australian Universal Cable service, a news syndicate in which the leading Antipodean newspapers are members. He said:

"This council will deal with all general questions affecting the war. The prime ministers or their representatives will be members of the war council, and we propose to arrange that all matters of first importance shall be considered at its meetings."

"Nothing affecting the dominions, the conduct of the war or the negotiations for peace will be excluded from the scope of its authority. There will, of course, be domestic questions which each part of the empire must settle for itself. Such domestic matters will be our only reservation. But we propose that everything else shall be, so to speak, on the table."

Entitled to a Say.

You do not suppose that our over-nations can raise and place in the field armies containing a predominant portion of their best manhood and not want to have a say, a real say, in determining the use to which they are to be put? That seems to us an impossible and undemocratic proposition.

"Up to the present we have shoudered practically alone responsibility for the policy of the war. We now wish to know that in our measures for prosecuting the war to a finish, in our negotiations for peace and in the problems arising from the war and following its close we shall be carrying out a policy agreed to by the representatives of the entire empire, sitting together in plenary council.

"Things can never be the same after the war as before it. Five democracies, all parts of one empire, cannot shed their blood and spend their treasure with a heroism and disregard of cost beyond all praise and in a common cause without establishing a unity such as never existed until now."

Although the British empire now presents a united front to the Teutons such a spirit of union has not always marked its history.

War has united the empire; first, the Boer struggle, and, second, the present titanic conflict.

Were Object Lessons.

The two wars were object lessons for the provincial Londoners. In this war more than a million fine soldiers have already left their homes to fight for their king in France, in East Africa, in Mesopotamia, in Egypt and on the Gallipoli peninsula. On the latter spot they died by the ten thousand in a hopeless attempt to take impregnable positions.

The caliber of the colonial leaders who will come here is not inferior to that of the British leaders with whom they will confer. Perhaps the strongest and most interesting personality among them is Premier Hughes of Australia.

When he visited England for the first time a year ago he impressed Englishmen deeply.

Hughes weighs less than 100 pounds, has chronic dyspepsia, and shows about ten times as much energy as an ordinary 200-pound man in full health.

He started life as an itinerant schoolmaster in Australia, carrying a pack about the country and teaching frontiersmen's children. Then he opened up a little general store near the wharves in Sydney, became acquainted with the dock laborers and headed the trades union movement. He rose rapidly to be a Labor member of the assembly of New South Wales, then a member of the Australian commonwealth parliament, then minister of external affairs, and finally premier in the first Labor cabinet the nation had ever known.

Some of the Others.

Premier Massey of New Zealand is an Irishman born, who went to the Antipodes when six years old, and was engaged in farming before turning to statesmanship.

General Smuts was one of the best Boer leaders in the war against Great Britain 17 years ago. Today he is one of King George's most loyal and energetic supporters.

For South Africa: Gen. Jan Christian Smuts (serving in place of Premier Louis Botha).

For Canada: Premier Sir Robert Borden.

For New Zealand: Premier William Ferguson Massey.

For Australia: Premier William Morris Hughes.

Silence Please Orator
What a speaker has a least is not always applause. It is silence. There are moments when to a speaker the silence can be thrilling. Who knows as we say, that he has no audience? A perfect relation has been established. During those moments the thought is passing rapidly from the speaker's mind into the minds of the listeners and is taking effect. It may not always be a sympathetic effect. It may even be hostile. Nevertheless, the thought is at work.

About the Wedding Ring.
The wedding ring is of gold to signify the nobility and durability of affection. The ring is round to signify that love should never end. The place is on the third finger of the left hand where the arteries through there was a vein that came directly from the heart, and where it is always in view. The third finger being a finger least used, the ring may be lost, subject to wearing out.

Hands Tell Character.
According to palmists, short hands denote impulsive judgment without analysis, while long hands denote capacity for detail.

THE AMERICAN CONSUL

"You cannot make characters," explained Theodore Roberts, the celebrated character actor and Lasky star who will be seen at the Crystal theatre in the Lasky-Paramount production, "The American Consul," as he sat in his dressing room at the Lasky studio, while he was darning his face with his hands with grease paint.

If an actor is told to portray the role of, say a small town lawyer as I am playing in "The American Consul" he cannot make that character interesting by manufacturing it from his own imagination. If he does, that character will not be real, it will not be human—it will not be sincere. He must have, at one time, seen and known such a person in order to portray him well. The drunken dolt which I portrayed in "The Dream Girl," I actually saw years ago in New York City, asleep against a pillar of the elevated railway on the Bowery. The character of "Puddin-head Wilson" I once did after a careful study of Mark Twain's works, and from my own knowledge of people of that period.

THE WEATHER

The cold wave has overspread most of the southern states including northwestern Florida over most of which the temperature is freezing or below. The temperature diminishes northward to 8 or 10 below zero over the northern and western lake region.

Preceding the cold wave there were general rains over most of the country east of the Mississippi river, rain changing to snow over northern districts. The winds are fresh northerly on the lower coasts. Conditions favor somewhat colder weather tonight; temperature about freezing or below in truck gardens. Fair weather is indicated tonight and Tuesday.

WINTER VISITORS TO BE WINTER RESIDENTS

Daytona gains two more winter residents from among the winter visitors this season in the persons of Albert Steiner and John H. Ashley, of Springfield, Mass. Mr. Steiner has purchased through the Bingham & Thompson agency, the DeForest bungalow, 536 South Palmetto avenue, originally one of the T. A. Snyder bungalows, and Mr. Seigner has purchased from G. B. Seaman a very desirable lot at the northwest corner of Ridgewood avenue and South street, upon which he will have erected, ready for occupancy next winter, an attractive bungalow of Spanish architecture. Neither Mr. Steiner or Mr. Steiner had an idea of becoming winter residents prior to coming to Daytona, but have become so enthused with the beauty and attractions of the place they they decided to regularly spend the winters here.

Mr. Steiner and Robert C. Hollister, the latter from Westfield, Mass., came to Daytona earlier in the season, accompanied by their wives and other members of their families and have been occupying a residence on South Palmetto avenue where they were joined recently by Mr. and Mrs. Steiner, Mr. Steiner being attracted here by the pleasure given the place by Mr. Steiner. The three men are brothers-in-law. Mr. Steiner is the owner of a number of large dry goods and women's furnishing stores in Springfield, Mass., and elsewhere in New England, while Mr. Steiner is a well known real estate dealer at that city and Mr. Hollister a prominent jeweler. Mingled with their praise of Daytona is a mild criticism of the leaving of piles of trimmings from frozen plants and shrubbery along the streets for so long a period, as the well known appearance of the streets of a city or town play an important part in its attractiveness.

MRS. A. D. ISHERWOOD AGED WINTER VISITOR DIED THIS MORNING

Mrs. Armina Dora Isherwood died this morning shortly after 7:00 o'clock, at one of the local hotels where she was a season guest. Mrs. Isherwood, who was 83 years of age, had for some time past been in failing health, but had only been confined to her bed for the past two or three weeks. Funeral arrangements are awaiting the arrival from Toledo, Ohio, of W. L. Ostrander, a cousin of Mrs. Isherwood, and her business agent.

The deceased, who was born in Wiloughby, Ohio, Sept. 19th, 1833, is survived by three sisters, Mrs. M. Babington, of this city, Mrs. Elmira Dayton of Riverside, Cal., and Mrs. Carrie Rouse of Blissfield, Mich., now in Los Angeles, Cal.

Mrs. Isherwood, in company with her husband, was one of the first of Dayton's winter visitors, spending the seasons here for many years at the Palmetto house in the early days of the city, coming here first more than 40 years ago. Mr. Isherwood died about 25 years ago. After his death Mrs. Isherwood spent several years in southern Italy. On her return from abroad she made her home with her sister, Mrs. Rouse, in Blissfield, Mich., and resumed her winter visits to Daytona. For several years past she has been spending the summers in New York while continuing her winter journeys in this city. Mrs. Isherwood was well known to all of the older residents of Daytona and vicinity and her death will be learned with regret by many friends.

VERMONT PEOPLE ENJOYED PICNIC

The Vermont Association's annual picnic occurred on March 3 at DeLeon Springs.

The members enjoyed the beautiful surroundings and marveled much at the wondrous spring—a river in abundance of water pouring out from the earth, forming a large pool of water in which many swimmers dispensed themselves.

The program was offhand and consisted of short speeches, readings and recitations, the wild birds graciously furnishing the most charming music.

The officers were reelected as follows: Dr. A. T. Bigelow, president; Messrs. Marshall, Stone, Morse, Robinson and Phillips, vice presidents; entertainment committee, Mr. and Mrs. Chase, L. Heath, DeLand; Rev. and Mrs. Geo. O. Howe, DeLand; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Marshall, Daytona Beach; Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Stone, Orange City; secretary and treasurer, J. F. Ballard, Lake Helen.

EARLY PENINSULA SETTLER AND HOTEL MAN PASSES AWAY

JOHN T. DUNN, BUILDER OF FIRST 5-STORY BUILDING ON PENIN- SULA, GOES TO GREAT BEYOND EARLY SUNDAY MORNING.

John T. Dunn passed away at his home in Seabreeze, corner of Ocean Avenue and Duke street at 2:20 Sunday morning, after an illness of two years, being confined to his bed during the last two weeks of his life. In the past year he made several trips to Baltimore for treatment in Johns Hopkins hospital, none of which resulted in any permanent relief.

The funeral services took place this afternoon at 3:00 at the residence, Rev. Wm. J. Drew, of the Daytona Congregational church officiating. Interment took place at the family lot in Pinewood cemetery, the funeral being in charge of the Baggett-Wetherby company.

Mr. Dunn was born in Abingdon, Va., April 6, 1847. He came to Florida in 1869, locating in Palatka. Thirty years ago he visited Daytona and was delighted with the place that he returned the following year and built the first three-story building to be erected on the peninsula. This was called the Seabreeze hotel and was on the location now covered by the Daytona Beach hotel, of W. F. Aves. For several years Mr. Dunn conducted or leased this hotel until later he sold his Daytona possessions and moved to Macon, Ga. However, he returned 11 years ago with his three sons launched into hardware business under the firm name of Dunn Bros.

He has been a great church worker all his life, being a member, and until January 1, trustee of the Congregational church of Daytona. He leaves his wife and three sons, J. C. Dunn, J. T. Dunn, Jr., and J. B. Dunn, to mourn his loss.

NOTE OF PATRIOTISM PREDOMINATED AT WILSON'S INAUGURAL

hind the space reserved for the president's cabinet.

Then came the chief justice and the associate justice of the supreme court, in the sombre black silk gowns of office, moving in a body with slow dignity to the places reserved for them in large chairs placed in the front row facing the vice-president and at his right.

Immediately afterward, the retiring members of the house of representatives and the members elect were announced. They had been forming meanwhile in two lines down the long corridor reaching toward the house wing of the capitol. The house, unlike the senate, was not in session. Some retiring members had departed for their homes without waiting for the ceremonies. A smaller attendance of representatives than usual, however, made for the comfort of those in the small senate chamber.

A seat had been placed on the rostrum for Speaker Clark at the left of Senator Saulsbury, president pro tempore of the senate. The representatives and former representatives filed through the chamber to places reserved for them on the west side of the chamber while the senators were seated on the east. A few other places were set apart on the floor for high officers of the army and navy and persons who by name have received the thanks of congress. With so much of the party assembled everything was in readiness for the first ceremony, the inauguration of the vice-president.

President Wilson, escorted by the committee on arrangements, entered the senate chamber at the main door and was escorted to a seat on the floor, on the right hand side of the main aisle facing the rostrum. Vice-President Marshall was escorted to a seat on the rostrum.

From that stage he ceremonies moved along rapidly. The senate chaplain, the Rev. J. Forrester Prettyman, offered prayer and the senate of the sixty-fifth congress was called to order by the president pro tempore, Senator Saulsbury.

As silence settled over the chamber, Vice-President Marshall stood beside Senator Saulsbury. Both men raised their right hands; the president pro tempore slowly spoke the vice-president's oath; the vice-president repeated the words. Brief and simple, the ceremony quickly was over and the thirty-two new senators were sworn into office.

The new senators were:

Democrats: Josiah O. Walcott, Delaware; Park Trammell, Florida; A. A. Jones, New Mexico; Peter Gagel, Jersey, Rhode Island; Kenneth D. McKellar, Tennessee; William H. King, Utah; John B. Kendrick, Wyoming.

Republicans: Hiram W. Johnson, California; Harry S. New, Indiana; Frederick Hale, Maine; Joseph I. Eaton, Maryland; Frank B. Kellogg, Minnesota; Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, New Jersey; William M. Calder, New York; Ellsworth T. Knox, Pennsylvania; Howard Sutherland, West Virginia.

Rejected senators who took the oath were:

Democrats: Henry F. Ashurst, Arizona; Charles A. Ulverson, Texas; George B. M. Hitchcock, Nebraska; Henry L. Myers, Montana; Key Pittman, Nevada; Atlee Pomerene, Ohio; James E. Reed, Missouri; Claude A. Swanson, Virginia; John Sharp Williams, Mississippi.

Republicans: Robert M. LaFollette, Wisconsin; Henry Cabot Lodge, Massachusetts; Porter J. McCumber, North Dakota; George P. McLean, Connecticut; Carroll S. Page, Vermont; Miles Pound, Vt.; Washington; Charles E. Townsend, Michigan.

Senators who retired with the end of the sixty-fourth Congress were: Democrats: Nathan P. Bryan, Florida; William E. Chilton, West Virginia; Charles F. Johnson, Maine; John W. Kern, Indiana; Luke Lea Tennessee; Blair Lee, Maryland; James E. Martine, New Jersey; James A. O'Gorman, New York.

Republicans: Thomas B. Carton, New Mexico; Moses E. Clapp, Minnesota; Clarence D. Clark, Wyoming; Henry A. DuPont, Delaware; Henry F. Appit, Rhode Island; George T. Oliver, Pennsylvania; John B. Works, California; George Sutherland, Utah.

While this ceremony was in progress the remainder of the party began moving out of the chamber.

As the inaugural party passed out from the great door and into the open air to the spot where practically all presidents since Monroe have been inaugurated, it was as if the curtain had been raised for the climax of the drama.

Before a great sea of humanity, official and unofficial, invited and uninvited, President Wilson took his place at the left of the chief justice and at the right of the arrangements committee. Places for former presidents and vice presidents, associate justices of the supreme court, the vice-president, secretary of the senate, senators and former senators were ranged along on the right. Retiring members of the house and members-elect were next to and behind the senate.

To the right of the president were seated the members of the diplomatic corps, governors of states and territories, members of the cabinet, army and navy officials were at the left.

While the party was assembling the units of the inaugural procession were forming on all sides of the capitol, and the music of marching bands as the organizations took places waiting to swing into line behind the president when he started back to the White House, gave the only appearance of a military air in the whole proceeding.

The assembling of the presidential party, its departure and the demonstrations of the crowd were the only spectacular features of the outdoor ceremony. The actual ceremony itself is simplicity and solemnity.

When the president was ready to take the inaugural oath, the chief justice, bible in hand, came forward; President Wilson stood beside him with raised hand. Slowly and solemnly the chief justice repeated the oath prescribed by the Constitution.

When that was concluded, the senate returned to its chamber, and the president returned to the White House at the head of the inaugural procession. Mrs. Wilson, following a precedent set by Mrs. Taft, rode with her husband, after having created a precedent herself by riding to the capitol with him earlier in the day.

As the president led the procession up Pennsylvania Avenue, and the units of the inaugural parade, civic and military, swung in behind him, a new demonstration began which continued until the procession halted in front of the White House. There the president and his party took places in the official stand to view the remainder of the column.

The Inaugural Parade.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—The inaugural parade today was more than a mere procession as part of the ceremonies; it was a patriotic demonstration.

As the marching host of some 30,000 tramped from the capitol to the White House before thousands of Americans the martial music and unmistakable note of national patriotism recalled to many the days of more than 50 years ago when the federal armies marched in review over the same route.

The nation's fighting men, who fought the nation's wars and men who will be called to fight them in the future—all were represented in the long line. Beside them in gold and blue and gray, they marched in review before the president. Army, navy, national guard, cavalry, infantry, sailors, soldiers, marines, veterans of the Civil War, Boy Scouts and Red Cross workers, all branches, past, present and prospective, of military service and many thousands of citizens were represented in the line.

Pennsylvania Avenue was massed with people on each side of the marching column. Great reviewing stands had been placed at every vantage point along the line. Windows framed groups of spectators, and thousands more had places in balconies and on the rooftops. Between these walls of humanity, marched the army of inauguration, to the confused mixture of many voices, bugles blowing, bands playing, the rumble of artillery, the clatter of horses' hoofs and the steady tramp of marchers.

The procession moved at the close of the inaugural ceremonies at the capitol, swinging into line behind President Wilson and Vice-President Marshall as they returned to the White House, and took their places to review the column.

President Wilson was escorted by troops of the Second Cavalry from Fort Myer. Immediately after the president and his escort came Vice-President Marshall, escorted by the Black Horse Troop of Culver Military Academy. Then came the inaugural chairman, Robert N. Harper and members of the Senate and House inaugural committees. The West Point cadets had the next place in line. Long straight lines of grey, they marched. These future officers of the American army, eyes front, heads high, plumed a little, thus rippling. Then followed the Annapolis midshipmen.

The Laziest Shepherd.

A century and more ago a pamphlet entitled "The Shepherd of Salisbury Plain" set forth this notorious laziness and said a gentleman entered a prize of a million to the laziest of a shepherd's flock. Some started up to claim the prize which was won by the shepherd who merely murmured an invective to shoo it into his pocket. —London Gleaner.

Oil-Proof Cement.

A cement which will not be affected by oil is made by mixing glycerine and litharge to the consistency of a thick paste. This will be found very handy in repairing cracked oil reservoirs or in making an oil-tight joint between two metal plates. The cement should be applied as soon as it is mixed, since it hardens very quickly.

Absent-Minded.

Her neighbors were discussing the character of a venerable woman whom they esteemed to be wise in her generation, but a young man said it struck him that she showed great lack of wisdom in one respect. "What is that, pray?" inquired one of the group. "Why," said the young man, "she always puts out her tubs to catch soft water when it's raining hard."

C. O. CHAMBERLIN FUNERAL SERVICES AT ELKS' HOME

Many friends and admirers in addition to his brother Elks gathered at the Elks' home Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock to offer a last tribute of respect to the mortal remains of C.
O. Chamberlin, whose death occurred
Friday afternoon, as a result of heart failure.

The handsome casket which contained the remains occupied a position in the center of the reception room which was reserved to the use of the Elks and the officers of the lodge who conducted the impressive funeral service of the order. The casket was covered and surrounded by beautiful floral pieces, tributes of love and respect from friends and brothers, and after the services a photograph was taken of the casket and these floral offerings. The remains have been placed in the Birmingham & Maley company retaining vault in Pinewood cemetery to await the return north later in the season of Mrs. R. E. Gordon, a sister of the deceased. The interment will be made in Brattleboro, Vt., Mr. Chamberlin's early home. Mr. Chamberlin, in addition to Mrs. Gordon, was survived by another sister and a brother, Mrs. Nash and E. A. Chamberlin, of Brattleboro or vicinity.

Mr. Chamberlin, to whose memory a glowing tribute has been paid by Senator Rufus Magee, was widely known and esteemed, particularly through his connection with the Hotel Men's Mutual Benefit Ass'n. His entry into the hotel business was made in 1881, when he assumed the management of the Highland hotel at Biddeford Pool, Maine. In 1885 he bought the Atlantic house at Wells Beach, Maine, which he conducted until it was destroyed by fire in 1885. Mr. Chamberlin then came to Florida and for several years had the management of the original St. James hotel in Jacksonville, conducting it up to the time it burned. From Jacksonville he came to Daytona and purchased the pioneer hotel of the city, the Palmetto house, on South Beach street, which he conducted for many years. He sold this property four years ago since which time he has made the Despland hotel his headquarters during the winter seasons, continuing his management in the summer seasons of the Adirondack Inn, Sacandaga Park, N. Y. He will be greatly missed at this popular summer resort and in hotel circles generally as well as by his personal friends and acquaintances here and elsewhere.

Righteous Judgment.

The honest workman with a peck of corned beef and cabbage under his belt may envy the millionaire his bank account, but hanged if he wants the omelet souffle.—House-ton Post.

No Substitute Handy.

A New York physician says that what we need is fewer drug stores. Maybe—but where would one buy toothbrushes and cigarettes and postage stamps—and where would one go to have a look at the city directory?—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Fly Gets a Friend.

The New York girl, who, becoming entangled in a molasses puddle on a Gotham sidewalk, was rescued from a sticky situation by the fire department, may have acquired something of the viewpoint of the fly as a result of the experience.—Exchange.

WILBUR BY THE SEA

WILBUR-BY-THE-SEA. March 3.—One of the most charming ladies being entertained at the Toronita hotel is Mrs. Larz Anderson, of Cincinnati. Mrs. Anderson is deeply interested in philanthropic work, and has gladdened the hearts of a host of wounded and dying soldiers by sending thousands of parcels of hospital supplies. In addition to being one of the most zealous workers at Wilbur-by-the-Sea, Mrs. Anderson is affiliated with the Cincinnati Section of Surgical Dressings, who have sent about 175,000 dressings since January. This society is entirely separate from the Red Cross, and is carried on by a few interested ladies.

Judging the future by the past, the banner week at Wilbur-by-the-Sea is not even in sight, for desirable home builders as well as investors were in evidence in encouraging numbers. Mrs. Ida C. Chamberlain, of Eu Claire, Wis., will start to build this coming week. Mrs. N. F. Emmons, a prominent lady of Hingham, will also build an attractive bungalow on the ocean front. Mrs. Larz Anderson, one of the best known ladies in Cincinnati and her sister, Mrs. Julia Anderson, of Watchell, R. I., also purchased desirable lots.

A trio of ladies from Cleveland, O., consisting of Mrs. B. L. Milliken and Misses H. E. and L. Milliken are pleasantly located at the Toronita hotel.

The Pennsylvania contingent at the Toronita hotel was joined Saturday by Mesdames Mary Miller, Alice B. Longworth and Elizabeth Champion. These pleasing ladies come from Philadelphia.

Among the interesting ladies seen on the tennis court of late is Miss Ella Corr, of Chicago. Miss Corr was entertained at the Toronita hotel earlier in the season and has recently returned from Palm Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Meyers, whose northern address is the Touraine hotel, Boston, are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Joseph Hughes. This is their first visit to Wilbur, but they declare they will surely return, as they little realized a resort could be so beautiful. Mr. Meyers is vice-president of the Ames Shovel & Tool company.

A group of four charming ladies, consisting of Mesdames L. G. Waite, L. C. Mitchell, R. W. Beattie and J. H. Cornwall, had luncheon at the Toronita Friday, after which they played tennis.

Other recent guests at the Toronita hotel are Mrs. R. E. Emery, Newton, Mass.; Mrs. S. W. Waitt, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Lathrop, Woonsocket, R. I.; Mrs. H. S. Whitaker and Emma R. Whitaker, Pawtucket, R. I.

CAPACITY OF GAS PLANT HAS BEEN GREATLY INCREASED

An increase in the daily capacity from 100,000 to 600,000 cubic feet of gas is made possible for Daytona, Daytona Beach and Seabreeze by the installation of a new water-gas set by the Daytona Public Service company at an expenditure of $25,000. Work on the improvement was started early last November and would have been completed in ample time to serve the city during the cold spell of February if machinery had been shipped on time. But unavoidable delays over which the Daytona Public Service company had no control prevented its installation sooner.

When the new plant on First street was placed in commission this morning, Manager Lyle was warmly congratulated upon his foresight. When the plant with 100,000 cubic feet capacity was installed four years ago it was deemed large enough for many years. But Daytona, Daytona Beach and Seabreeze have grown so fast that it was deemed advisable to make arrangements for a machine of far greater capacity.

Additional improvements contemplated for the coming summer include a new holder of 200,000 cubic feet capacity, which will cost $40,000. An order has already been given for this holder and it will be placed on the Sholtz lot adjoining that of the gas company on First street, the lot having been recently purchased by the Daytona Public Service company.

Thus, by an expenditure of $65,000 Daytona will be given a gas plant with sufficient capacity to supply four times the present demand, even in the busiest season. This will not put an additional burden on the people, as there will be no increase in gas rates.

The new water-gas set is the latest idea of its kind. It was installed by T. J. Schweihold, who represents The Gas Machinery company, of Cleveland, Ohio. In speaking of the new machine, Mr. Schweihold said: "You can see that the new machine makes gas both up and down, while the old one, which will continue in service, makes it only up. The steam hoist is also a time saver; in fact every new idea is incorporated in the new machine, which is now in full operation. Every movement is checked by a clock and the entire output passes through one big meter. This is done so as to be able to discover leaks. Gas used by subscribers is checked against the records of the large meter."

This new apparatus for producing carburetted water-gas may be divided into (1) generator for making blue water-gas; (2) fixing chambers to gasify the oil used for enriching; (3) hydraulic seal to seal off the gas made; (4) scrubbing and condensing machinery; (5) blast apparatus to furnish air-blast; (6) oil feed system.

The blue water-gas is made in the generator, and is enriched by the gasification of oil sprayed into the top of the carburettor, the gas being "fixed" in the checker brick lining of carburettor and superheater.

"After leaving the hydraulic seal, the gas passes either through the scrubber and condenser, or it goes back into the relief holder. Where conditions permit, the condenser is preferably placed at the outlet of the relief holder, as the correct temperature for tar extraction and sulphur purification is in this way more easily maintained.

"Water-gas consists of equal volumes of hydrogen and carbon monoxide. It is made by passing steam through a deep bed of highly incandescent carbon, which has greater affinity for the oxygen in the steam than for the hydrogen; the steam is therefore decomposed, the oxygen combining with the incandescent carbon to form carbon monoxide and carbonic acid.

"I install gas machinery in every state in the Union, and nowhere do I know of a more complete plant in a city of 75,000 than the one that is now in operation in Daytona. I like the place and its people and I am glad I was sent here during this pleasant season."

The Green-Adler company has been authorized by the Tax Collector to issue automobile licenses. Get yours now; garage open all night.

NONE APPEAR BUT ALL RECEIVE FINE

The five-dollar appearance bonds of seven negroes were estreated by City Police Judge Titus in court at the city hall this morning as a fine for gambling.

The negroes were arrested by Chief of Police T. O. Milton in north Midway Sunday while in the midst of a "private" game. The names given were as follows: Will Davis, Seward Sampson, Will Harris, John Dingle, Kennedy Cook, John Bennett, Moise Walker.

George Trent, another negro, was also fined $5.00 by estreatment of bond for drunk and disorderly conduct.

George Young, who left his bicycle as appearance bond, was fined $2.00 for riding without a light by estreatment of bond.

ROADSTER WANTED—I want a high class roadster. Will exchange high class Daytona land, 20 acres, 2½ miles from Daytona. Describe auto to me; I will describe land, or call on me. G. M. Randall, M. D., St. Petersburg, Fla. 98-12c

A flash of lightning lights up the ground for one-millionth of a second, yet it seems to us to last ever so much longer. What happens is that the impression remains in the retina of the eye for about one-eighth of a second, or 124,000 times longer than the dash lasts.
